

Homes for Good and Lane County are leading an effort to develop a supportive housing apartment community on Martin Luther King Blvd. in Eugene, Oregon. This partnership will identify, engage, house and support those who have been homeless the longest, utilize the most resources, and who have traditionally been the hardest to serve because they often struggle with complex and overlapping health, mental health and substance abuse disorders.

The combination of housing and support services follows the Housing First/harm reduction model. Research has demonstrated that the Housing First model, which features wrap-around services and supportive programs, is more effective than shelters and transitional housing systems alone. Research also identifies that if not housed, the chronically homeless – those who will be served at this new community – otherwise utilize half of the shelter system resources, utilize a higher percentage of hospital emergency services and require longer care, and have higher rates of incarceration and recidivism.

The overall estimated cost for the project is $12 million. Land for the project has been provided by Lane County. The State of Oregon has committed $3 million in funding that will allow Homes for Good to leverage other necessary funding, with the goal of beginning construction in the summer of 2019.
